

HOPE

Hope eternal is my destiny,
My dream.
I'm bombarded daily
With divisive voices
All clamouring for attention.
The transient media,
Secularist academia,
So called technological advancements
Rights of different interest groups
All clamouring for a place
In humanity,
Insanity in all its conceptualities.

But I hope daily
That sanity will prevail
The initials of God
Emblazoned in the roaring seas
The majestic mountains
The cascading waterfalls
All empirically show
That there is still hope for tomorrow
Hope- a dream?

Civilisation shows since time began
It's a rock-like reality
After all is said and done
The sun comes up in the morning
For mankind.
Hands down,
There is still hope for tomorrow